

It was stated that the banking association wants one law. The average citizen would want that law to be the one currently in Wisconsin. Maybe the federal law should follow Wisconsin's. Then there wouldn't be any problem, right?